Ballet Troupe to Perform Before Audience of Area

The Bolshoi Ballet from Moscow, the largest theatrical troupe ever to tour America from coast to coast, is now on its second tour of the United States and Canada.

The company of 200, under the direction of S. Hurlock, will have 12 performances for the only Southern California engagement at Shrine Auditorium Friday through Oct. 16.

The company travels on two chartered airplanes between most cities. Scenery and costumes are transported by six extra-long baggage cars.

In the wardrobe and property departments alone, customs inspectors examined more than 14,000 separate items when the Bolshoi arrived in this country.

There are such items as "50 fruits (fake)," and "10 royal crowns," "painted covers for thrones," and "one flight machine for swans."

For the ballet "Swan Lake" alone, the company brought 529 pairs of dance shoes.

Other items examined by customs included "one three piece gravestone," (used in Giselle); "one river and one cloud," and "one lake," all used in "Swan Lake."

For make-up the ballerinas in the company were taking no chances on being caught without hairpins. The manifest reveals they brought 4000 hairpins and 5000 straight pins, along with 428 wigs.
